

FOURTH OF JULY.

A Rousing Meeting Held at the Board of Trade Rooms, and Steps Taken to Celebrate.

The Day to Be Fitly Observed in Helena, and the Whole State Invited to Attend.

Committees Appointed, Who Will See That the Affair Will Be a Success.

Helena will celebrate the Fourth of July. Such was the verdict of the citizens' meeting at the Board of Trade rooms last evening. All that money, enterprise and enthusiasm can do will be done to make the celebration a memorable event, which the entire state of Montana is cordially invited to participate. The occasion is one which calls for a time of glad rejoicing. On that day the assembled wisdom of the new state will meet in Helena to undertake a work which shall determine the future of Montana. It is three years since Helena had a Fourth of July celebration and on this occasion it is proposed to excel any previous event that has occurred in the northwest.

The meeting last evening was attended by a number of Helena's foremost citizens, who may always be found in the front ranks in any undertaking that is for Helena's good. These were E. W. Knight, A. M. Holter, T. H. Kleinschmidt, Col. C. D. Curtis, H. M. Parnell, John Worth, Marcus Lister, Sam Douglas, Sam Alexander, Maj. R. C. Walker, Territorial Secretary, L. A. Walker, Jacob Loeb, C. W. Cole, J. B. Wilson, Chas. J. Sullivan, Herman Gans, Sol. Pozanski, H. C. Yager, Judge N. J. McConnell, Morris Sands and A. C. Logan.

E. W. Knight was made chairman and L. A. Walker secretary of the meeting. Mr. Loeb produced a certificate of deposit for $750, which has been drawing interest for three years, it being the amount left over from the celebration of 1887.

A resolution offered by Mr. Kleinschmidt that the city of Helena have a rousing celebration was enthusiastically adopted. On motion of Maj. Walker a committee on finance was selected. The chair appointed H. M. Parnell, L. H. Herdfield, Jacob Loeb and W. E. Cox.

A committee of arrangements with power to appoint sub-committees was then appointed by Chairman Knight as follows: T. H. Kleinschmidt, C. D. Curtis, R. C. Walker, H. Gans, Dr. C. K. Cole, J. Sullivan and L. E. Toole. Col. Curtis then delivered one of his characteristic orations, in the course of which he remarked that "little Ben Harris is in the list of contributors with $50. 'We want a celebration that has never been equaled,' he said, 'one that the people will talk about for years. We want to show the people of Montana what kind of a city we have and we want to get to work before all the adjutant towns make arrangements for home celebrations.'"

Judge McConnell was called upon for a few remarks and his impromptu talk was warm, eloquent and patriotic. "While we gather here and transact a few preliminary details," he said, "there is also a serious aspect in this undertaking. It is undoubtedly a foregone conclusion that Helena will remain the capital. It should be the duty of the constitutional convention to put the name of the capital in the great work which it shall undertake. Montana as elected by the people shall meet in this city; it will witness scenes of patriotic enthusiasm that if the question of location devolve upon them they will by acclamation nominate Helena as the capital. This is an exciting grave duty—establishing the fundamental principles of our future welfare. The day will be all the more worthy celebrating. It is an event to be memorialized by legend and in history for all time to come. Montana will one day become a bright star in a galaxy of stars; a wheel within a wheel, and nothing conceivable could be of more importance to Montana than the advent of that great day—a day of double celebration. Let no man on the committee appointed yesterday turn a stone to secure the complete success of the event. Invite the whole people of the territory to partake of your hospitalities. Helena should have no rival; she has the wealth and the men and should lead in advance in everything." The judge spoke of the grand sight he witnessed in Butte City at the Fourth of July celebration of 1887. He said he never saw a larger number of people assembled at a Fourth of July celebration than was present on that occasion. It was a demonstration the equal of which he never saw in the great west before. Messrs. Kleinschmidt and Sullivan also spoke, and after the chairman and secretary were tendered a vote of thanks for their part in the proceedings, the meeting adjourned.

The boys' song service, at 8 o'clock yesterday, proved a success. Deacon Manly's forte is certainly with the youth of this country. His inimitable illustrations, gospel songs full of pathos, powerful rendition of anecdotes, specially adapted to the boys, proved highly interesting. He will hold a similar service next Saturday afternoon at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. hall, where he expects to meet all the boys in Helena.

Second Presbyterian church, Helena avenue, near Northern Pacific depot. Rev. J. C. Quinn, pastor, will preach at 8 o'clock p. m. Pressmen vs. Printers.

The printers and pressmen of the city have been sending defies to each for some time, each association claiming to number among its members the best ball players who ever caught sky wipers or nipped daisy cutters. Finally, about two weeks ago, arrangements were made for a game of ball, which will come off this afternoon. Game will be called promptly at 2 o'clock, if an umpire can be secured, of which there is some doubt, as men of the present day are not so willing to take their lives in their hands as they were wont to do. Following are the positions:

Pressmen. Leonard, c. f. Scherke, p. McMurray, ss. McKee, lb. Williams, p. Morris, 2b. Simmons, 3b. Riddell, l. f. Dunne, c. f. Murphy, c. f.

WHOLLY UNEXPECTED.

A Load of Unslacked Lime Visited by a Shower Sets Fire to the Wagon.

A teamster having a load of unslacked lime stopped his team on Main street yesterday in front of John C. Kinn's and son's place of business and went of presumably upon some business of his own. If he were dry the lime was also as was evidenced shortly afterwards when a sudden shower descended. The thirsty lime drank up the welcome rain as fast it fell, and within a very brief period of time there was a hiss and roar, as if the boiler inspector had neglected his duty and allowed a boiler to be used which would not stand a ten-pound pressure. The smoke ascended and the heat increased. A blue flame was seen issuing from the rear of the wagon which showed that the woodwork of the wagon had caught fire.

About this time the teamster, who had probably been irrigating, became aware of the condition of his load, which had met the element which was prevailing, and came running back in haste. He mounted the wagon and drove his steaming load—post haste to a convenient dumping ground where he lost no time in ridding himself of the lime. The next time he hauls a load of lime in cloudy weather he will probably incline to it in light cylinders or have his wagon well supplied with Babcock extinguishers.
